

Early Care and Education

With the early years of children's education being so crucial to development, you have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to truly impact the life of a youngster for decades to come. The early lessons of letters and numbers provide a truly rewarding experience as you see children's eyes light up from understanding what they have learned.

With an associate's degree in Early Care and Education, you'll learn to understand the physical, emotional, language, and behavioral development of infants, toddlers and school-aged children. You'll also be able to prepare age-appropriate lesson plans and establish an environment that encourages children to learn. The ECE program offers quality classroom instruction, as well as a variety of high-quality experiential teaching labs.

Our small class sizes and relational teaching creates a family atmosphere that lasts long past graduation!

We engage students with practical application of skills from the very first semester and build on that training through multiple external field placements in high quality early learning settings.

Tri-County has a strong articulation agreement that allows our graduates to transfer to Southern Wesleyan University to earn a bachelor's degree in Early Childhood Education or Early Childhood and Family Studies.
